Prelude

*Call to Worship (Responsively)

In life and death, baptism and flood...

Come to be washed in the waters of God.

A rainbow of grace paints the sky.

We worship a God of steadfast love and faithfulness.

The waters of baptism seal us in holy love.

We worship a God of steadfast love and faithfulness.

A voice over the water proclaims: "You are my Son, the Beloved; with you I am well pleased."

We worship a God of steadfast love and faithfulness.

*Opening Prayer

*Hymn

"Holy, Holy, Holy"

*Confession of Sins (in Unison)

Divine Spirit, You drive us into the wilderness of our lives. In the aloneness of our desert experiences: our thoughts rage out of control; our fears transform minor hills and obstacles into overwhelming mountains and bushy terrain. Renew us in the healing waters of our baptism, and send your angels to minister to us, that we may know that we are not alone. Set your bow in the clouds once more, Divine Spirit, that we might see the sign of your grace, and behold the promise of your salvation. Amen.

*Words of Assurance

Hear and believe the good news: "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God has come near; repent and believe in the good news." The one seated at the right hand of God offers us forgiveness of sins and fullness of grace.

THEME IDEAS

On this first Sunday in Lent, we revisit Jesus' baptism against the backdrop of covenant, mercy, and salvation. In Genesis, God makes an everlasting covenant with Noah, his family, and every living creature. As a sign of God's promise to never again destroy all flesh with a flood, God set a rainbow in the sky. The Psalmist seeks God's mercy and protection, truth and teachings. Extolling God's salvation, the Psalmist proclaims God's steadfast love and faithfulness for all who keep God's covenant and decrees. The epistle hearkens to the flood of Noah, and to the salvation offered through the waters of Christ's baptism. Finally, the Gospel recounts John's baptism of Jesus and the beginning of Christ's ministry to spread
